INTRODUCTION

CSF Advisers Sdn Bhd and ATLAS CSF Sdn Bhd (collectively known as the “Company” for the purposes of this Policy only) has adopted a zero-tolerance policy against all forms of bribery and corruption. The Company’s Code of Conduct sets out its core principles in this regard. This policy covers the Company’s general principles and standards on anti-bribery and corruption and it to be read in line with the Company’s Code of Conduct for Business Partners.

This Anti-Bribery and Anti-Corruption Policy (hereinafter referred to as the “Policy”) elaborate upon those principles, providing guidance to Business Partners concerning how to deal with improper solicitation, bribery and other corrupt activities and issues that may arise in the course of business.

The Policy is not intended to provide definitive answers to all questions regarding bribery and corruption. Rather, they are intended to provide Business Partners with a basic introduction to how the Company combats bribery and corruption. There may be additional obligations that the Business Partners are expected to adhere to or comply with when performing their duties. For all intents and purposes, the Business Partners shall always observe and ensure compliance with all applicable laws, rules and regulations to which they are bound to observe in performance of their duties.

This Policy contains controls to minimize this risk, but we rely on Business Partners to exercise judgment about how any gift/hospitality might be perceived, recognizing that what at first sight might appear to be reasonable might nevertheless become the subject of unreasonable comment or criticism by external parties.

2. GIFTS, CORPORATE HOSPITALITY AND ENTERTAINMENT

2.1. GUIDING PRINCIPLES

- 2.1.1. Unless stated otherwise, this section does not apply to Public Officials. For gifts and hospitality involving government officials, see the Dealing with Public Officials section in Section 3 of this Policy.
- 2.1.2. Gifts and hospitality encompass a range of activity, from items marked with company logos to providing and receiving invitations for meals, entertainment, event tickets, accommodation, and travel arrangements. We need to ensure that gifts and hospitality does not tip over into bribery or corruption.
- 2.1.3. Regardless of whether a gift or hospitality has been offered or accepted with purely innocent motives, if an external observer could put an adverse construction on that gift or hospitality, it puts the business – and the person giving or receiving the gift/hospitality – at risk. Remember, even lower value gifts and hospitality are inappropriate if they are repeated or are intended to (or may appear to) improperly influence the recipient.
- 2.1.4. You must always exercise proper care and judgment. You should use these guiding principles in making your decision:
 - a. Intention – was the gift/hospitality intended to influence the recipient to perform his or her function improperly?
 - b. Timing – when was the gift/hospitality offered? Was it offered at a time immediately prior to an important commercial decision, such as the outcome of a tender process?
 - c. Openness – was the gift/hospitality given freely and openly or has any attempt been made to conceal it, and critically does the company require its personnel to record it in a register? Was there an effective policy about giving and receiving gifts?

- d. Reasonableness – simply, would the making or receiving of the gift/hospitality appear reasonable to an objective bystander?
- e. You must take reasonable steps to identify and where applicable, to avoid conflicts of interest; and
- f. You must refrain from taking advantage of your position or exercising your authority to further your own personal interest at the expense of the Company.

2.2. NO GIFT POLICY

- 2.2.1. The Company has adopted a “No Gift” Policy whereby, subject only to certain narrow exceptions, Employees and Directors of the Company or Business Partners acting for or on behalf of Company are prohibited from, directly, or indirectly, receiving or providing gifts for and on behalf of the Company.
- 2.2.2. You must not solicit, accept, offer or give gifts or hospitality that may influence or appear to influence the recipient’s ability (including yours or any relevant third party’s ability) to make objective business decisions.

2.3. EXCEPTIONS TO THE ‘NO GIFT’ POLICY

Subject to the Guiding Principles stated in Section 2.1, the following situations can be exceptions from the ‘No Gift’ policy for Business Partners:

- 2.3.1. The Company recognizes certain situations in which external parties may still insist on providing gifts, or that gift-giving is a central part of business and/or cultural etiquette. If the gift has been given to the Business Partner and which in any way relates to the Company’s dealings with the Business Partner, the Business Partner is to refuse the gift in a manner sensitive to all the circumstances as to avoid causing any offence, e.g. by:
 - a. Thanking the giver for their thoughtfulness, taking care not to embarrass them, and
 - b. Expressing your apologies for not accepting the gift/hospitality and explaining why, mentioning the “No Gift” policy as necessary.
- 2.3.2. If the gift has been given to the Business Partner and it cannot be returned to the giver directly or immediately, for example, in the event that the gift has not been given directly to the recipient but instead has been sent to the Company’s or Business Partner’s offices, the gift must be returned with a polite note of explanation about the Company’s ‘No Gift’ policy for Business Partners.
- 2.3.3. If the gift has already been given and the giver refuses to take it back, you are expected to immediately record the gift using the ‘Gift/Hospitality Approval Form’ and submit the same to the Designated Contact, which will determine whether the gift is to be returned or accepted.

2.4. PROCEDURES UPON RECEIVING GIFT

In the event that the Designated Contact approves the acceptance of the gift, it must also determine the treatment of the gift whether to:

- 2.4.1. Donate or raffle off the gift to charity;
- 2.4.2. Permit it to be retained by the Company or Business Partner.

2.5. HOSPITALITY and ENTERTAINMENT

- 2.5.1. Subject to the Guiding Principles in Section 2.1 above, you may occasionally accept or offer social entertainment or hospitality, such as invitations for business events, technical conferences, modest meals, so long as the following requirements are met:

 - b. The event, activity or other hospitality offered is not lavish, excessive or extraordinary; and
 - c. It is not intended and could not be perceived by others to improperly influence any party in any business decisions or in exchange for some future benefit or result.
